TAABAR'S PROFILE

In 2006, a heartwarming initiative took root with a mission to extend a lifeline to children living in the shadows of railway stations. These young souls, caught in the harsh reality of homelessness, were offered shelter, education on HIV/AIDS, and treatment for STIs. The journey began in a modest rented flat, where five children found a temporary haven. With time, the number of children under our care slowly increased.

In those early days, our resources were limited. We could only provide meals and a few precious hours of education and recreation. As dusk fell, it broke our hearts to send the children back to the station, knowing they faced the perils of prostitution, drug addiction, and trafficking - dark paths all too common in such circumstances.

Our unwavering dedication soon caught the attention of the government and the Jaipur Municipal Corporation. Impressed by our work, they offered us a hall near the Jaipur railway station. This space, now known as the "Bal Basera" shelter home, became a sanctuary for these vulnerable children, providing immediate lodging and the basic necessities of life.

The creation of Bal Basera was more than just a solution; it was a beacon of hope. Here, the children found not just shelter, but also the prospects essential for wholesome growth and development. The once temporary refuge transformed into a nurturing home, offering these young hearts a chance to dream, learn, and thrive. This is the story of Bal Basera - a testament to the power of compassion and the belief that every child deserves a chance at a brighter future.

MISSION

"TAABAR mission is to ensure protection of rights and entitlements of children and to empower communities through Training, Advocacy, Awareness, Behavioural Change and Rehabilitation."

3. To reintegrate children in need into mainstream society by furnishing them with essential life necessities.
4. To raise awareness within society about the necessity of safeguarding this vulnerable group from potential risks.
5. To establish networks and collaborate with government departments and child rights advocates for the same purpose.
6. To deliver rehabilitation and referral services to children with specific requirements.
7. To foster public awareness regarding the challenges and requirements of children in distress.

Strengthening Institutional Care (Short Term & Long Term)

Bal Basera Open Shelter Home: A Beacon of Hope for Vulnerable Children in Jaipur

Bal Basera continues to serve as a vital refuge for vulnerable children in Jaipur, a city grappling with child labor and street child issues. Under the Juvenile Justice Act 2015, our open shelter home has provided essential care and protection to children in dire need.

Key Achievements :

- 390 New Entrants: Over the past year, we welcomed 390 children, starting with 50 and ending the year with 55 in our care. On average, we nurtured 79 children per month.
- Comprehensive Services: Our holistic support included shelter, nutritious meals, clothing, bedding, medical care, educational support, and recreational activities such as theatre, dance, and art training.

Many children at Bal Basera come from traumatic backgrounds, including those trafficked from states like Bihar. We coordinate closely with government agencies to ensure their safety and provide a nurturing environment during the complex process of family reunification.

Our mission extends beyond temporary shelter; we aim to instill hope and empower these young lives to envision a brighter future. Bal Basera exemplifies the positive impact of community support for our most vulnerable members.

Bal Basera Children Home, Prem Nagar

TAABAR's Bal Basera Children's Home, established in 2015 and located in Prem Nagar on Agra Road, continues to be a sanctuary of hope and growth for children in need of care and protection. Operating under the Juvenile Justice Act, 2015, Bal Basera provides a long-term care environment where children can stay until they reach the age of 18, completing their education and receiving all necessary facilities to preserve their rights and well-being.

Since its inception, Bal Basera has seen three children successfully transition out of our care upon reaching adulthood. These young adults completed their education and received vocational training through the ICICI Foundation in courses such as marketing skills, medical care, and AC repair. Today, all three are employed in the private sector and continue their further studies with TAABAR's ongoing support and guidance.

Currently, Bal Basera is home to 21 children. Additionally, due to limited space in other facilities, we have also taken in rescued child laborers, offering them a safe and nurturing environment. Our holistic approach ensures that every child receives shelter, nutrition, clothing, medical care, education, and opportunities for personal and professional development.

TAABAR's commitment extends beyond providing a safe haven; we strive to equip our children with the skills and confidence needed to thrive independently. By nurturing their academic, artistic, and vocational talents, we help them build a foundation for a brighter future.

We are deeply grateful for the support of our donors, volunteers, and partners who have played a crucial role in our mission. As we look back on 2023-24, we are proud of the progress made and remain steadfast in our dedication to empowering these young lives. Together, we continue to transform challenges into opportunities, creating a lasting impact on the children we serve.

Access to Health Care For Children

Mobile Medical Health & Counselling Van

Introduction: TAABAR launched a health project focused on providing information and counseling about STI/HIV/AIDS to street children. With support from railway authorities, we established a mobile tent clinic to deliver general health services to passengers, migrants, and street children.

Expansion of Services: Recognizing the prevalence of slums surrounding the railway station, we introduced the TAABAR Mobile Clinic Van to bring essential healthcare services directly to the communities, particularly focusing on children's health.

Day Care Centers: To prevent children from these slums from joining street life, we opened day care centers for neglected children and those from working families. These centers provide pre-school education, after-school support, hobby classes, and theater activities, fostering a connection to formal education.

Medical Health and Counseling Van: Initially stationed at the railway station, the van offered free healthcare and medicines to passengers and street children. Discovering that many street children hailed from nearby slums, we expanded our reach to five slums in Jaipur, providing free medical services, referrals, health education, and HIV/AIDS awareness. Over 1,400 children have benefited from these services.

In 2023, we shifted our focus to a fully healthcare-centric approach. The mobile van now visits 26-30 slums in Jaipur, identifying children in need of medical attention, particularly those with congenital heart defects ("Blue Baby"). We ensure these children receive the surgeries and treatments they need, significantly improving their health outcomes.

TAABAR has made 10,708 referrals and provided guidance and counseling. TAABAR continues to support children with serious heart and other health conditions, ensuring they receive the necessary medical care and support.

To date, TAABAR has facilitated

TAABAR Mobile Medical Health and Counselling Van for Girls

Overview: Launched in 2018, the TAABAR Mobile Clinic Van for Girls addresses healthcare disparities in slum areas by providing free, accessible medical services directly within communities. The Initiative focuses on overcoming barriers to healthcare access for women and girls, offering medical consultations, treatments, and educational programs on health rights.

Impact: In the reporting period, the clinic served a total of 12,347 patients, including 12,207 girls under 18 and 140 adult women. Our personalized 1x1 counseling sessions empowered 1,236 girls to openly discuss their health concerns.

Health education has been integral to our mission, with 7,079 group sessions attended by 72,090 individuals. These sessions covered vital topics, including health issues, government schemes, and women's health. Additionally, at our day care centers, 900 sessions reached 18,000 children and their parents, while school programs educated 39,000 girls and teachers on menstrual hygiene and related health topics.

Referral services were critical, with patients referred for specialized care across several hospitals:

- ENT: 380
- Heart: 650
- UTI: 7,408
- Breast Lumps: 2,124
- Other: 1,785

The TAABAR team not only facilitated these referrals but also provided follow-up support, ensuring patients received comprehensive care.

The TAABAR Mobile Clinic Van for Girls has made a profound impact on the health and well-being of underserved women and children. Through targeted healthcare interventions and education, we continue to empower our beneficiaries and foster healthier communities.

Women Training Center

The TAABAR Women Training Center has significantly impacted the lives of 111 women during the year 2023-24 by providing vocational training in Mehandi, Tailoring, and Beautician courses. Out of these, 57 women have started earning from their respective courses. Specifically, 42 women from the Mehandi course, 84 women from the Tailoring course, and 31 women from the Beautician course have achieved notable milestones. This includes employment in factories, opening boutiques and beauty parlours, and working as professionals in other parlours. In total, the center has facilitated 157 instances of women gaining employment or starting their own businesses. This comprehensive support not only enhances their employability and job retention but also builds their confidence, decision-making power, and overall social upliftment. Through awareness sessions and psycho-social support, TAABAR has empowered these women to live lives of dignity and respect, addressing their social, economic, and health issues comprehensively.

Many nomadic tribes and traditional castes, such as Snake Charmers, Banjaras, and Nats, endure harsh living conditions, remaining isolated and deprived of their rights. In Jaipur, the capital of Rajasthan, a substantial population of migrants from various parts of the country faces significant challenges in settling down.

TAABAR's Mobile Library Van program aims to integrate these marginalized communities into mainstream society by focusing on the education of their children. This innovative initiative visits eight different locations each week, bringing educational resources directly to those in need.

A dedicated teacher travels with the mobile library, providing fundamental academic instruction and assessing each child's academic level to tailor a personalized learning plan. Beyond just books, the Mobile Library Van offers a variety of engaging activities, including storytelling competitions, life skills training, games, art and craft sessions, theater, and festive celebrations.

The impact of the Mobile Library Van extends beyond primary education, supporting youths who lack the resources to purchase expensive books necessary for higher studies and job preparation. This holistic approach not only addresses immediate educational needs but also fosters a lifelong love for learning and personal development.

Since its inception, the Mobile Library Van has made a significant difference in the lives of children and youth in these communities. It has improved literacy rates, enhanced life skills, and provided a sense of inclusion and hope. By bringing education and resources directly to these underserved populations, TAABAR is helping to bridge the gap and pave the way for a brighter future.

Isolated Communities

In 2023, TAABAR's efforts through its Health Care Centers and Mobile Library Van have significantly transformed the lives of disadvantaged children in Sanpero Ki Dhani, Bagariya Basti, and Banjara Basti. The centers have provided essential services, including education, health and hygiene education, arts and crafts, and counseling. This has led to healthier children, increased school enrollment, and a newfound love for learning and creative activities.

TAABAR has made significant strides in improving hygiene and access to clean water in the communities of Sanpero Ki Dhani, Bagariya Basti, and Banjara Basti. Hygiene kits, distributed regularly, include essentials like soap, toothbrushes, toothpaste, and sanitary napkins, promoting better personal hygiene practices among children and families.

Additionally, efforts to ensure a reliable water supply have alleviated water scarcity issues, fostering healthier living conditions. These initiatives, combined with health education sessions, have led to reduced incidences of illness, enhanced school attendance, and a cleaner, more aware community.

Through regular health check-ups and nutritional supplements, children's health has markedly improved. Awareness sessions on social issues like alcohol abuse and child marriage have shifted traditional beliefs, resulting in higher school attendance and more community involvement. Street plays and capacity-building activities have empowered children to become agents of change, advocating for better living conditions and educational opportunities.

One remarkable story is of a young girl named Meera from Bagariya Basti. Initially excluded from school due to her traditional attire and poor hygiene, Meera now excels in her studies and actively participates in theater and art sessions. Her transformation has inspired her peers and changed the attitudes of teachers and community members. Meera's journey from exclusion to empowerment exemplifies the profound impact of TAABAR's initiatives on individual lives and the broader community.

TAABAR operated eight Health Care Centers (formerly known as day care centers) in the slums of Jaipur, including Khor, Kagdiwara, three centers in isolated communities, Jhalana, and two centers in Luniyawas village. These centers provided early childhood education, nutritious meals, healthcare, hygiene, emotional and social support, and parental involvement. The primary goal was to prevent children from becoming part of street life in slums populated by daily wage laborers and migrants living in jhuggis, whose children often roam neglected.

From April 2023 to March 2024, more than 10000 children benefitted from these centers, They received education and healthcare, preschool education to facilitate enrollment in formal schools, along with nutrition and healthcare services. Community awareness sessions on drug addiction, health education, and seasonal diseases engaged over 6,000 participants, significantly impacting the community's well-being.

The donor supporting the Day Care Centers has shifted its focus from education to Access to healthcare for Children, prioritizing children with severe medical conditions such as "blue baby" syndrome, hernia, and breast lumps. Consequently, TAABAR's medical team will now work with a Mobile Van across more than 30 slum areas, addressing health education, girls' health, child protection, nutrition, and drug addiction. This strategic transition aims to provide critical healthcare support to children whose families cannot afford the necessary medical expenses, ensuring comprehensive care and protection for the most vulnerable.

Child-Friendly Center for Psycho-Social Support

Overview: TAABAR's Child-Friendly Center, located at Shastri Nagar Police Station, provides crucial psycho-social support for children at the immediate rescue stage. This center plays a pivotal role in helping children relax, build trust, and share their experiences, which is essential for their recovery and protection.

Psycho-Social Support Framework: Our approach unfolds in three distinct stages:

- 1. Immediate Rescue: Upon arrival, children's basic needs—food, water, and clothing—are promptly met. Psycho-social first aid is provided to alleviate anxiety and foster trust. Counselors engage in comforting activities, encouraging children to express their experiences and begin their healing journey.
 - 2. Healing and Transition: Once admitted to the Child Care Institution (CCI), children participate in specialized activities and counseling designed to address trauma related to their rescue and legal processes. This phase prepares them emotionally for judicial proceedings and facilitates their transition to a stable environment.
 - 3. Testimony and Long-Term Care: Continuous support and counseling are provided as children offer testimony and navigate the legal system. This phase focuses on creating a secure environment, ensuring that children receive the long-term care necessary to rebuild their lives.
- Significance of Psycho-Social Support:

- Accurate Reporting: Enhances the reliability of information and evidence, strengthening FIRs and supporting legal actions.
- Increased Convictions: Addresses common challenges like inadequate information, leading to improved chances of securing convictions. (24 conviction)
- Addressing Manipulation: Mitigates fear and manipulation, reducing the risk of false statements.

Conclusion: The Child-Friendly Center is essential in providing holistic support for child laborers during their recovery journey. Through targeted psycho-social interventions, TAABAR empowers these children, facilitating their healing and reintegration into society.

Post-Rescue and Rehabilitation of Child Laborers

The post-rescue rehabilitation of child laborers involves a comprehensive and compassionate approach. Initially, the focus is on meeting their immediate needs such as food, shelter, clothing, bedding, and toiletries. Concurrently, psycho-social support is provided to help children process their traumatic experiences.

Legal steps are taken to safeguard their rights, including recording statements, setting up bank accounts, and obtaining Aadhar cards. The process also encompasses preparing files for compensation claims, conducting thorough medical check-ups, and providing necessary treatments. Rehabilitation efforts extend to fostering holistic development, which includes addressing nutritional needs and promoting education. Engagement in informal learning, recreational activities, and artistic pursuits-such as theater, dance, computer classes, and art therapy-plays a crucial role. Additionally, organized picnics, exposure trips, and celebratory events like birthdays enhance their emotional well-being.

For children who were previously missing, had run away, or faced adverse conditions, the aim is to restore their sense of security and stability. This involves collaborating with agencies such as Child Welfare Committees, District Child Protection Units, Railway authorities, and Bihar DCPU to either reunite them with their families or find appropriate alternative care. Ongoing follow-up, including home visits and detailed digital case management, underscores our commitment to ensuring their continued safety and well-being.

Education for Female Sex Worker's Children

The "Education for Female Sex Workers' Children" project, implemented from June to November 2023 in Jaipur, made significant strides in addressing the challenges faced by over 104 children of Female Sex Workers (FSWs) 64 boys and 40 girls up to the age of 18. The initiative aimed to break the cycle of exploitation by providing education, healthcare, vocational training, and raising awareness about social rights. Engaging the FSW community in project planning fostered a supportive environment and facilitated the identification of eligible participants for government schemes, promoting integration into mainstream society.

Community awareness initiatives addressed the social stigma faced by these children in mainstream schools, leading to increased support and a smoother transition into formal schooling. As a result, 104 children were enrolled in formal education, alongside preschool readiness programs that enhanced foundational literacy and numeracy skills for those who had never attended school. Taabar's psychosocial counseling yielded positive outcomes, including improved mental health, self-perception, decision-making abilities, and awareness of education and healthcare. Vocational training initiatives equipped children with practical skills, boosting their employability and entrepreneurial potential. Additionally, efforts to improve documentation access enabled families to benefit from various government welfare schemes.

Overall, these comprehensive interventions significantly transformed the lives of individuals and the broader community, promoting resilience, education, and well-being, while uplifting families from extreme poverty and empowering them toward a better future.

Kusum - Rescuing from the Shadows of Exploitation

Kusum, a girl living in Chainpura Basti in Jaipur, faces challenging circumstances at home. Her family's economic condition is far from ideal, living in a makeshift house where every rainstorm poses a struggle. Upon visiting Kusum's home, it was observed that most women in her family were standing outside, calling customers. When we spoke to Kusum's father, he revealed that Kusum, at the age of 16, was supposed to get married. While a groom was arranged, Kusum refused to marry, stating that marriages here often lead to girls being sold.

After a few days, we revisited Kusum's home along with other girls from the area. These girls were enrolled in educational programs by the organization, and now they are pursuing their studies. Some are even learning professional skills like beauty parlour work. Through these girls, Kusum's father was convinced, and he realized that with the help of the organization, his daughter could receive an education and learn skills to earn a livelihood. Consequently, Kusum was admitted to a telecommunication course in the city, where she is developing an interest in accountancy.

CASE STUDY-2

Rakhi's Journey: Empowering Dreams Against All Odds

Rakhi, a girl residing in the rice fields of Shivdas Pura on Agra Road in Jaipur, is 16 years old. Her parents passed away during her childhood, and she now lives with her uncle and aunt. She is a quiet and composed girl. When we met her, she mentioned that apart from her uncle and aunt, there was no one else in her family. She has two brothers and three elder sisters, but they are step-siblings. She studied up to the eighth grade, but her stepbrothers discontinued her education. They told her to stop studying and work at home so that customers would come.

She expressed her unwillingness, stating that she wanted to study and work. When the organization visited her home and spoke to her uncle, he angrily refused, saying that girls here don't study; they take care of the house after marriage. He suggested not to waste time working hard unnecessarily. However, after a few days, we went back to her house and again spoke to her uncle. This time, though still upset, he agreed, saying, "Alright, take Rakhi and get her educated. But if she doesn't progress, I will marry her off."

The organization immediately enrolled her in a school and connected her with AISECT Academy, where she is learning a beauty parlor course. Today, she serves as an example in the entire neighborhood. She does makeup for other women at home, and everyone in the community is happy. Now, she has also started her own business, and other girls in the neighborhood are joining us.

Background:

Kunal, an 8-year-old from the Khor slum area, lives with his family under challenging socioeconomic conditions. His father, Gopal Lal, works as a laborer, and his mother, Pooja, is a housewife. Their financial limitations have made accessing adequate healthcare difficult.

Initial Concerns:

Kunal arrived at the Multi Mobile Clinic Van with severe symptoms: high fever, lower abdominal pain, and a reducible swelling in the scrotal region.
